PROMISE TO BREAK RECORDS

Opinion is General That This Year's Fair Will be Best in History of County.

EVERY DEPARTMENT IS FULL

Secretary Says Public Should Appreciate Efforts of Officers to Make Exhibition a Good One.

"If Rush county people do not appreciate this fair, they have no power to appreciate," said William King, secretary of the fair association at the fair grounds this morning. "They may say that it is largely all newspaper talk and that there is no truth in the fact that the greatest exhibition ever will be given this year, but I am willing to affix my signature over the statement that it will be the best fair that we have had here in recent years. I can not remember the time when we have had so many concessions, so much stock, so many displays and so many various things that I have not the time to mention now.

"But the biggest and best feature of this year's event is that it is absolutely clean. There is not an attraction on the grounds to which any man, woman or child can not go. We can not afford to put on distasteful shows and other things because it hurts our fair in years to come. And for other reasons we can not afford to do these things. If we had gambling devices all over the grounds and similar stands and attractions, they would attract all of the people and there would be no business for the other stands. The concession men will not spend their time at a fair where there is a big array of gambling booths. These fellows here now are complaining about the Elwood fair, because there was so much gambling there. They all stood around and did nothing while the gambling games took the money. Everyone of them lost money."

A visitor at the grounds today must acknowledge that the secretary of the fair association is right in his statements. The beautiful grove presents a beautiful sight with tents and stands stuck in every conceivable nook and corner; machinery all over the west hill; all of the stock barns full and overflowing, and the fast horse barns crowded to their capacity. Elmer Humes, who has charge of the concessions, is almost compelled to fight stand men away. This morning they crowded around him, wanting this and that space. Now space on the grounds is being used for shows and stands that was never taken for that purpose before and they are still setting up their stuff. Stands are being placed in the little valley south of the show track, so that nothing more than a path up over the hill is left.

But the shows and stands are only a part of what promises to be Rush county's biggest fair. The stock department is keeping pace with the other divisions of the exhibition and the men in charge are fussing and fuming about where they are going to get shelter for the next bunch of stock that is entered. They have no stalls for several draft horses which were entered today and they had to be placed out in the open air. Several new box stalls are being erected for some of the draft and other classes of horses.

The cattle, sheep, and hog pens are all full. The directors who have charge of these departments say that that never happened before since they have been associated with the fair. Absolutely every available space is filled and in some of the pens the hogs are crowded too close together.

The halls are gradually being put into shape for the crowd which is expected tomorrow. The floral hall interior will present a very pretty sight when the decorators have completed their work. The farmers from all parts of the county have entered exhibits in that department and they are being placed in shape for today in preparation for the Wednesday crowd.

The free attractions this year consist of two balloon ascensions each day by two different aerial artists. "Jim" Crawford of Marion is here with his apparatus, while L. M. McNeil of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, has not yet arrived. It is planned to have a race between the balloons each day. The ascensions will be made late in the afternoon of Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The races this year promise to be more exciting than ever before, due to the large number of entries. There are more fast horses here than there have been in fifteen years, according to the superintendents of the departments. The race program tomorrow consists of a 2:30 pace and a 2:30 trot, each with a purse of three hundred dollars.

DIRT BELONGS TO PROPERTY OWNERS

Question of Ownership of Excavations From Streets, Which Are Being Improved, Comes Up.

CITY PAYS FOR CRUSHED ROCK

It was reported that the city would attempt to stop the Adams Construction company of Ohio, under whose supervision the brick streets are being built, from selling the dirt off the streets and receiving money for it. This was denied by a member of the city council this morning, who said that that question had been considered, however. He said that the subject as to who should have the dirt had come up for consideration and had resulted in the question being examined. Several members of the council found that the statute on that subject stated that the dirt taken from any street belongs to the abutting property owners and can be used by them if they so desire. But there are no people who have any use for the street dirt and the construction company will continue to sell it at a greatly reduced price.

The city had contracted for the crushed rock which is being taken from Main street to be placed on the streets in other parts of the city. The city had contracted for all of the crushed rock at ten cents a load, but members of the council now believe that the company may go back on the contract since a township trustee has offered more for the same stone. The matter has been placed in the hands of a special committee and it is thought that a definite arrangement will be made soon.

DIES OF CHOLERA INFANTUM

Kenneth Roach, Infant Son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roach, is Dead.

Kenneth R. Roach, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roach, died at their home in New Salem this morning at 1:30 from cholera infantum. The child was two months and ten days of age. The funeral services of the infant will be held at their home tomorrow morning at ten o'clock. Burial will be made in the Fisher cemetery near Richland.

Dora Matlock, who has not been making the fairs for the past two years, has "come back." He has a crackerjack stand just back of the secretary's office.

CIRCUIT COURT OPENS MONDAY

Calendar For the September Term of Court is Well Filled and Busy Days Are Expected

MANY SUITS HAVE BEEN FILED

Petit and Grand Jurors Have Been Drawn—Dame Rumor Says Grand Jury Will Not be Idle.

On next Monday morning the doors of the Rush circuit court room will be thrown open for the first time in three months. Many cases have been entered on the entry docket at the county clerk's office during the past few weeks and Judge Sparks is anticipating an extremely busy judicial year. Some cases that carry great importance will come up for trial in this judicial district within the next few months.

The calendar for the September term of court is as follows:

Sept. 5—Calling docket. Issues.
Sept. 6—State vs. Barton; State vs. Herschell Miller.
Sept. 7—Open.
Sept. 8—State vs. Ryan.
Sept. 9—State vs. Clevenger; State vs. Roth.
Sept. 10—State vs. Shook.
Sept. 12—Milroy Drain Tile Co; remonstrance; English vs. English.
Sept. 13—Smiley vs. Knecht; Bradley vs. Hinchman.
Sept. 14—Perkins vs. Harmon, receiver; Waltermire vs. Mull.
Sept. 15—Miller vs. McAllister.
Sept. 16—Stager vs. Big Four.
Sept. 17—Herkless vs. Keller Construction Co.
Sept. 19—Davis vs. Jennings; Lambertson vs. Lambertson.
Sept. 20—Kessler Drain vs. Remonstrance.
Sept. 21—Fleener vs. McBarney.
Sept. 22—Farmers Bank vs. Conner.
Sept. 23—Richey vs. Big Four.
Sept. 24—McMath vs. Colter.
Sept. 26—Hollingsworth vs. Big Four.
Sept. 27—McAllister vs. Miller.
Sept. 28—Open.
Sept. 29—Herkless vs. Miller.
Sept. 30—Open.
Oct. 1—Open.
Oct. 3—Addison vs. T. H. I. & E. Co.
Oct. 4—Open.
Oct. 5—Open.
Oct. 6—Open.
Oct. 7—Open.
Oct. 8—Open.

The petit jurors who have been chosen for this term of court are: James W. Anderson, Richland township; Walter Broadie, Richland township; John O. Williams, Noble township; William Dill, Ripley township; Marshall Blackledge, Union township; William Stevens, Orange township; Riley Stephens, Noble township; William Gray, Union township; John D. Farlow, Anderson township; John E. Laughlin, Washington township; Charles Winship, Rushville township; Thomas Heaton, Noble township.

The grand jurors that have been drawn in all probability will have an extremely busy and interesting session, for Dame Rumor gives out the information that many criminal acts have been committed in this county since the last meeting of the grand jury. The grand jurors that have been drawn are: Edward Medd, Noble township; Harry Stager, Ripley township; Fred Lightfoot, Washington township; Fred Kessler, Walker township; P. A. Newhouse, Rushville township; A. B. Norris, Ripley township.

THE WEATHER.

Showers and cooler tonight. Wednesday fair. Cooler in east and south portion.

HEAR ALL ABOUT WHEAT GROWING

Improvement Special Greeted by a Large Crowd of Farmers at Pennsylvania Station.

WAS RUNNING BEHIND TIME

Lectures Delivered in Two Different Cars by Purdue Professors—Advise Use of Fertilizer.

Running twenty-five minutes behind time, the wheat improvement special, due here at three o'clock this afternoon, steamed into the Pennsylvania station this afternoon, and was greeted by a large crowd of farmers. They all boarded the train and the lectures in two of the cars were started immediately. The train moved slowly down through town during the talks and in that way made up some of the lost time. The train is furnished free of charge by the Pennsylvania railroad. It remained in the city about twenty minutes.

Prof. G. I. Christie delivered a lecture on wheat, which he illustrated with charts. He said that the average wheat yield in the State was 13 and a fraction bushels per acre, whereas it should be much larger. He also said that the acreage of wheat in the State was two and one-half million acres. Prof. Christie said wheat growers should have a solid seed bed with three inches of loose earth at the top. Clover sod on which corn had been grown is the best wheat soil. Seed wheat should be of a heavy variety and should be selected from wheat that previously produced a large yield.

In Rush county $3 worth of fertilizer produces $11 worth of wheat more to the acre than does land on which no fertilizer is used.

The train is in charge of Professor G. I. Christie, superintendent of agricultural extension, Purdue Experiment Station, and the lecturers are Professor M. L. Fisher, associate in agronomy; Professor S. D. Connor, associate in soil improvement; J. P. Prigg, president Indiana Corn Growers Association, Daleville, Ind.; S. W. Taylor, Boonville, Ind.; D. B. Johnson, Mooresville, Ind.; C. C. Martindale, Wilkinson, Ind.; W. M. Vaughn, secretary agricultural extension; and V. C. Plummer, assistant in agricultural extension.

SHEEP BELL RACK WAS DESTROYED

Five Young Boys do Dastardly Piece of Work at the Fair Grounds.

PROSECUTION WILL FOLLOW

A piece of dastardly work was committed at the fair grounds last night by five young boys, none of whom were older than fifteen, when they voluntarily destroyed a sheep bell rack. The deed was done early in the evening and there were many witnesses to the event. A box of cigars was stolen, the baseballs thrown away, and the rack itself destroyed beyond recognition. The city marshal was called this morning and he obtained the names of the witnesses to the act and prosecution will follow.

When side tracks are taken into account, we have more railroad mileage than all the rest of the world.

INFANT DIED LAST NIGHT

Three-Weeks-Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wolters Succumbs.

Melvin, the three-weeks-old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wolters, died last night at nine-thirty o'clock from capillary bronchitis. The infant had been in the best of health until two days ago when he was attacked with this disease. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock from the Wolters residence in West Fifth street. Burial will be made in East Hill cemetery.

ENJOYS VISIT TO HER BIRTHPLACE

Greenfield Woman Journeys to Childhood Home in This County and Spends Reminiscent Day.

DRINKS FROM SPRING IN HILL

Mr. and Mrs. Oak Morrison made another long automobile trip Sunday, says the Greenfield Reporter. They went from this city to Morristown, Rushville, Milroy, Greensburg, Shelbyville, Fountaintown and then home. They visited Mrs. Morrison's childhood home in Rush county, and she drank from the spring in the side of the hill about which years ago she and her sisters and brothers left the imprint of little bare feet. The twenty-eight years since she had visited the old home have taken away most all things familiar. The house that was then home is now serving as a storage for implements on the farm and is crumbling into decay, for it was old in those days.

Mrs. Morrison brought home with her a part of one of the stones that served as a foundation for the house of her birth, secured an apple from the old tree near the kitchen door and plucked an ear of corn from its neighboring field. There was scarcely a person in the neighborhood that remembered her family. The owners of the farms have retired and located in the cities and the tenants are all new people. They made the round trip without a mishap.

EQUESTRIENNES ARE NUMEROUS

The Young Women of This City Have Miss Helen Taft For a Model.

HAS MADE RIDING POPULAR

It is growing more evident every day that the young women of this city are becoming equestrienne queens slowly, but surely. They have had a leader in Miss Helen Taft, who is spoken of as follows in a New York paper: As the daughter of the first American in the land and a graceful and expert equestrienne, Miss Helen Taft, by her devotion to horseback riding, has started anew the fad for riding among society girls and women along the north shore. Since Miss Taft took her first ride a few days ago on her favorite horse Achilles, not less than a score of saddle horses have been shipped to the north shore, and many more thoroughbreds are due to arrive this week, and horseback riding for the remainder of the season is to be the diversion.

BUSINESS MEN ARE PROGRESSIVE

Enterprising Citizens of Young City in Southwest Are Always for Their Town.

IN PREFERENCE TO ANY OTHER

Commercial Club, Wide Awake and Merchants Are Always on Alert For New Business.

By Claude Simpson.
Rushville merchants have been making such rapid strides in progress in the last few months that it may be interesting to them to know what a city in the southwest is doing—a city in the supposed rough wild and woolly southwest. If there is a city of its size anywhere in which the merchants have more progressive ideas and carry them out than the business men in Roswell, New Mexico, please show me that city.

In the first place Roswell is the most selfish city on earth—New Castle notwithstanding. By that I do not mean that each business man is planning, scheming and devising to try to beat his next door neighbor. It is not that kind of selfishness, rather a city-of-the-whole selfishness. Roswell boldly stands on the highest peak of self confidence and defies the world. They laugh at the people who live in New York and can't imagine why in the world anybody would waste a life there. If anybody is looking for a home—no matter what the requirements—they say Roswell is the place.

Everybody is enthusiastic about the place as far as I have been able to find. Perhaps there are a few knockers—of the down and out class as knockers are everywhere—but I have not found one yet. A business man meets a stranger and here is a sample of the conversation:

"Going to locate here?" asks the business man.

"Well I don't know yet" replies the cautious stranger.

"We have a mighty fine place here" comes back the business man.

"Best place I have seen in the southwest" is the answer of the stranger if he is honest.

"Best place in the southwest? Best place in the world" comes in the pseudo-offended business man. And he says it as though he meant it.

Roswell is in its infancy for its only about 7000 people old. But in ten years the census should give the city 20,000 unless some of the indications are misleading.

As in other places the most potent factor in its activity is the Commercial Club which has well fitted rooms for business and social purposes in the down town district. The club has a paid secretary whose business it is to answer inquiries, raise funds, and do the thousand and two little odd jobs which a city needs done and which in Rushville is done largely by a few business men who are willing to spare some time from their business. Only last week the club voted $500 toward a Pecos Valley fruit exhibit which is to be made at an irrigated lands exhibit in Chicago in November. I guess that money is all raised and forgotten about by this time, and nobody has even intimated that "he wanted to know where the money went". Nor did anybody make the remark that "he was not in the fruit raising business and it would do him no good." Business men here figure that if a new family is added to the population of the country it is their gain. Since that $500 the Commercial club has raised another $500 toward improving a road in order to keep a way open to a distant community from which the merchant draws much trade. That money was raised in a very Obituary.

Lewis J. Newhouse, son of Samuel and Mary Newhouse was born in Union township, Rush county, Ind., May 23 1824, was married to Mary Ann Hackleman, April 17th, 1849. To this union five children were born, Mrs. Hannah Oldham, Marshall E., Elbert O., Samuel R. and Pleasant A. May 4th, 1862 this companion was called home.

The 9th of June 1863 he married Nancy Poque and five children came to this home, Alfred M., Harvey M., Mrs. Almeda E. Bell, Schuyler C. and Erasmus T.

Death again robbed him of his companion and on the 10th of April, 1906 he was married to Mrs. Alice Rees. Two children passed into the beyond—Elbert O. and Erasmus T.

His widow and remaining children mourn a loving husband and father.

Uncle Lewis was a member of the Baptist church, holding his membership with the Blue River church until his removal to Rushville, when he connected himself with the Morgan street Primitive Baptist church, a period of more than 55 years in the service of the master.

Two brothers, George W. and Cicero and two sisters, Mrs. J. W. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Matilda Sutton are the only remaining members of a large family of thirteen children.

Father Newhouse was 86 years, 3 months and 1 day old at the time of his death and having been born in the county, he was indeed one of the pioneers of Rush county. The early part of his life was spent in clearing away the forests and draining the soil which is so productive today.

He still owned at the time of his death a part of the beautiful farm that he had carved out of the wilderness by perseverance and hard work. A long life spent in ceaseless toil upon his farm and in the service of his master and for the upbuilding of the church, caused him to be held in the highest esteem by all who knew him. He passed from earth to the great beyond leaving the good will and best wishes of the entire community in which he lived.

SOLDIERS LAUGH AT BILL CULLOP

Tricky Democrats Play for Soldier Votes.

BIG PRETENSE OF GIVING AID

How Democratic Congressmen Try to Use Pension Information to Create Impression That Soldiers Are Indebted to Them For Assistance—System Exposed in Case of Second District Veteran.

Democratic congressmen from Indiana go to unusual lengths in their efforts to gain the votes of veterans. One of their tricks is to write to a pensioner who has been granted an increase of pension, or whose original pension has just been granted, wording the letter in such a way as to convey the impression that the tricky congressman has been helpful in obtaining governmental action on the pension.

The usual form is: "Let me know what further I can do to assist you." There is no direct assertion that aid has been given, but the suggestion is offered in the word "further."

Here is a fair specimen, sent by the Second district Democratic congressman to a constituent who refused to be fooled for a minute:

"August 14, 1910.

"John W. Dunbar,

"Washington, Ind.,

"My Dear Sir—

"I enclose you herewith letter from the commissioner of pensions which is self-explanatory. If I can serve you at any time, do not hesitate to command me. With kind regards, I am "Very truly yours,

"W. A. CULLOP."

Corporal Dunbar's friends put through a new examination, and obtained justice for the disabled veteran, through the regular channel. The pension department, as is the custom, notified the congressman from Corporal Dunbar's district of the increase. Congressman Cullop's interest was shown after the pension increase had been made, and not before. Manifestly the congressman desired to leave the impression that he had been helpful. Obviously he was trying to exchange buncombe and pretense for support.

In this connection it is to be remembered that the pension increase would have been allowed on its merits, even if Congressman Cullop had opposed it, as many Democrats do oppose pensions.

Indiana veterans cannot be caught with this sort of humbuggery.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

TRUTH ABOUT PENSIONS.

The old soldier, be he Democrat or Republican, is standing in his own light this year if he votes to send a Democrat to congress. The time is approaching when it seems almost sure that the dollar-a-day pension bill will be enacted into law, and every old soldier will receive at least $1 a day. This is certainly something hopeful for our old soldier friends to look forward to, for many of them have little else to live on besides the pension the government in justice pays them.

Almost beyond a doubt, if the next house contains a majority of Republican representatives, the dollar-a-day pension bill will become a law. This much is sure, no favorable pension legislation will be enacted if the house of representatives contains a majority of Democrats.

No matter how sincere northern Democrats may be in their support of dollar-a-day pensions, they would be perfectly helpless in case the Democrats control the lower house of congress, for the good reason that the great majority of Democrats in congress come from southern states. Southern people are opposed to the Union soldier receiving a dollar-a-day pension, or any other pension, for that matter. For this reason all Democratic representatives from the south are opposed to pensioning Union soldiers. If the house should be controlled by the Democrats it will mean that the south will be in the saddle and that no pension legislation favorable to Union soldiers will be enacted.

This is indeed a critical time for the veterans. Their dollar-a-day pension is in sight, and the only thing which seems to stand in the way is the fear that enough Democratic congressmen will be elected in the north to put the house in control of the south.

At this critical time, when their pension law is almost within grasp of the veterans, they should, all of them, regardless of politics, line up and help send a Republican to congress from this district—Rochester Republican.

SIDE TALKS ON PUBLIC AFFAIRS

By Old John Henry.

To the Editor:

It is up to the good people of Indiana to fight the bosses all the time.

I hold that Governor Marshall shirked his duty to the rank and file of the Democratic party when he laid down and permitted Thomas Taggart to walk away with the Democratic party organization. I find lots of my neighbors who believe Marshall owed it to party and to the people to down the bosses and regain for the voters the control which is theirs by right.

Some folks say Governor Marshall is lazy or indolent. Some say he is afraid. Some will tell you that he doesn't know politics.

Well, he may be lazy. He may be physically unable to go through a political fight such as is demanded to down Tom Taggart. He may not be a skilled politician. But I find, from what I can observe and learn from others, that Governor Marshall is first of all a Democrat rather than a public servant. He is over-anxious to advance Democratic harmony before the public welfare has been looked after. He was enough of a Democrat to use gladly all the help Tom Taggart could give him in 1908, and he was enough of a Democrat to take counsel with Taggart himself, in Room No. 27, the Denison hotel, Indianapolis, during his speaking campaign. But he was not enough of a loyal rank and file man to oppose Taggart last spring in the reorganization. Did he deal with Taggart, in 1908, in Room 27?

We all know the people looked to Marshall to make their fight against Taggartism. We all know how bitterly they were disappointed when he failed to take the lead. He permitted the rank and file to believe he would act as their captain. Then he did nothing.

The people lost their last finger-hold on the Democratic party. I hold Governor Marshall was to blame for that loss.

And now we are up to a point where Tom Taggart, the boss, selects a Democratic candidate for superintendent of public instruction. Taggart has our school system in his hands for better or worse. That's what it meant when Tom Marshall, pretended leader, cravenly laid down and delivered power to the bosses. That is not all it meant, but it is enough.

Truly, it is up to good people to fight all the time against the bosses.

Give the bosses the upper hand, as Marshall has done in the Democratic party, and not only the schools, but the very basis of good government will be menaced.

For one I hope Tom Marshall, shirker of duty, may get cold comfort out of the startling situation caused by the withdrawal of Dr. Aley from the Democratic state ticket.

OLD JOHN HENRY.

Durbin to Assist.

Colonel W. T. Durbin, former governor of Indiana, will enter into the personal work of Republican organization and campaign hustling after October 1. He is adjusting his business affairs so as to be able to devote some of his time to the Republican cause. State Chairman Lee looks on Colonel Durbin as "one of the best organizers in Indiana."

GREAT IS BUNCOMBE

Every general pension law on the statute books of the country was placed there by a Republican congress.

Every pension law was initiated by a Republican.

Every vote cast against a general pension law has been a Democratic vote.

Every pension veto has been a Democratic veto.

Every Democratic caucus in house and senate is dominated by a majority hailing from states which once belonged to the "Confederacy." These Democrats, from the southern states, look on the system of pensions for Union veterans as an "imposition."

Champ Clark, heir apparent to Democratic house leadership, and who is to be speaker in case of Democratic victory next November, is the same Champ Clark who, in a public address, described the Morgan raid into Indiana as "the most heroic cavalry dash in the world's history."

Clark is from Missouri, and is against pensions for Union veterans.

Champ Clark received at the last session the votes of all Indiana Democratic congressmen for speaker. In case they are elected this fall these Democratic congressmen will vote for Champ Clark for speaker.

They will do this in spite of the fact that they know he is against pensions for Union veterans.

If they are able to muster the votes, these Indiana Democrats will help make Clark speaker, though they know that in the chair of the house he will kill pension bills as fast as they are put within his reach.

Great is Buncombe, and he has several Indiana prophets.

THE WEST WILD FOR ROOSEVELT

Denver Gives the Colonel a Great Ovation.

HE DID SOME MORE SMASHING

Not Since He Left the Executive Office Has the Colonel Come Out So Boldly Against the Things He Does Not Admire, and Crowd Whooped It Up in the Way of the West for the Man They Delighted to Hear.

Denver, Aug. 30.—In the capital of Colorado Theodore Roosevelt did more smashing than he has done since he was president. Before the state legislature he criticised two decisions handed down by the supreme court of the United States. In the auditorium before a crowd of 20,000 persons he gave his most advanced views on the subject of conservation, deploring the backwardness of the east and praising the west for the strides it has taken. He declared that not a single acre of our public lands should hereafter pass into private ownership except for the single purpose of homestead settlement.

Roosevelt did not attack the administration. In fact, he did not refer to it by spoken word. He ignored Taft and he omitted any reference that could possibly be construed as an indorsement of what the administration has done. Colorado legislators who have been fighting their own battles with Governor Shafroth out here had the opportunity of hearing the colonel rail against the supreme court and plead for the more advanced system. He asked them to be progressive, because he said a great democracy must be progressive or else fall. It was in the chamber of the house that Mr. Roosevelt shouted that he was against the muckrakers who accused a man unjustly; that he will go the limit in condemning the writers of the public press who tell untruths about political and social conditions.

Throughout a day of unquestionable Roosevelt triumph the colonel poured his words and notions into willing ears and minds. Denver was in a receptive mood. Robert Speer, a Democrat, practically nominated Roosevelt for the presidency in 1912. As he introduced Mr. Roosevelt before the audience in the auditorium where Bryan was nominated for the presidency two years ago, Mr. Speer lost control of himself in his enthusiasm for the colonel.

"May you live to perform the great work which the American people expect of you," the mayor boomed. "The great majority of the Republicans in the west and a good many Democrats will not be silent until they see you at the helm again." A roar swept the hall. Men and women joined in offering to Theodore Roosevelt an ovation the like of which he has not heard in many days. The band played. It was a straight-from-the-heart ovation, too, for the folk of the west and Denver especially are mad about Roosevelt. The most rabid critics of Mr. Roosevelt were stirred by the greeting Denver accorded him. From morning till night he was on his feet. The Rocky mountains in the distance all but reverberated with the whoops of joy ejaculated by the people of this state who had traveled miles to be here. The militia escorted him through the streets. The governor and his officials carried him everywhere. Garfield and Pinchot came along and took in the whole show with very evident smiles on their faces. All along the line the noise would have made a boiler works seem like the hush of death.

At the entrance to the auditorium Roosevelt discovered that Judge Lindsay, the magazine writer who has hammered the corporations and other things, was not to be allowed to sit on the stage. Several persons had objected. As soon as the colonel heard of this he insisted that the judge be seated on the stage. He said that he would not speak unless the judge were present. The judge was summoned. "Conservation," the colonel began, "does not mean non-use or non-development. It does not mean tying up of the natural resources of the states. It means the utilization of the resources under such regulation and control as will prevent waste, extravagance and monopoly, but at the same time not discourage, but encourage, such use and development as will serve the people generally." This was a good beginning apparently, for the crowd manifested its delight a long time.

Senator Charles J. Hughes and Senator Guggenheim, on the platform, looked about them. The two did not sit together. When Roosevelt told his hearers that the coal mines should be leased, not sold, and that those who mine coal should pay back a part of the profit to the people, there was applause, because the point hit the mark.

Senator Guggenheim sat still as the colonel made this utterance in connection with the open range: "It would be a great calamity whose baleful effect on the average citizen we can scarcely exaggerate, if the great store of coal and other mineral fuels still owned by the people in Alaska and elsewhere should pass into unregulated ownership of monopolistic corporations."

MAINE'S GOVERNOR.

Bert M. Fernald Wants to Be Re-elected State Executive.

TO RAISE THE MAINE IN FINE CONDITION

Contractor O'Rourke Tells His Plan to President.

Beverly, Mass., Aug. 30.—President Taft sat on the vine-covered veranda of his summer cottage and heard from John F. O'Rourke of New York the story of how, on next Christmas morning the hull of the Maine can be lifted clear of the water in Havana harbor. Mr. O'Rourke, who wants the contract for raising the wreck of the Maine, explained to Mr. Taft that the hull can be brought up in such perfect condition as to permit the whole world to determine whether the Spanish-American war was justified.

If Mr. O'Rourke's plan is carried out, 1,000 men wearing the uniform of the United States will man the jacks which will swing the ship's keel above the waves in a cradle of many cables. The wreck, for twelve years and a half buried in the mud at the bottom of the sea, will hang in her steel hammock in exactly the same crippled condition that sent her down, and the soldiers at the jacks, having secured her in her strange mooring, will at last recover the bodies of the men who were drowned when she sank. Mr. O'Rourke talked so well that Mr. Taft listened to him for an hour and a half, and Secretary of the Navy Meyer, who dropped in for a call and heard the last hour of the speech, asked for more particulars.

"If the war department will act promptly and give me the contract," said O'Rourke, "I'll have the Maine above water on Christmas day."

Mr. O'Rourke also expressed his belief that the Maine, when raised and given necessary repairs, will be able to steam to New York under her own power.

Woman Smuggler Held.

New York, Aug. 30.—Mrs. I. Reynolds Adriance of Poughkeepsie, who made an unsuccessful effort to smuggle into this port a pearl necklace valued at $6,000, was held for the federal grand jury, her husband furnishing the bond required, $7,500.

Democrats of Maine Have Named Him For Governor.

INSURGENTS CONTROL KANSAS REPUBLICANS

Standpatters Declare They Are Absolved From Support.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 30.—The Republican party council today is controlled by the insurgents by a two to one vote. The insurgent leaders, consisting of Senator Bristow, Congressman Murdock and Madison, Governor Stubbs and William Allen White, have a platform that will indorse President Taft but condemn the men he has chosen as advisers. Condemnation of certain schedules in the tariff, especially lead, wool, cotton and a few others, will be made.

Instructions to Kansas congressmen and senators to follow the lead of the president in his recently announced policy to demand a revision of these schedules separate from the general bill and as soon as the tariff commission can get the facts on which to base a revision, will be given.

Instructions to congressmen and senators to work and vote for a resolution submitting to a vote a constitutional amendment providing for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, will be embodied also.

The standpatters, headed by Senator Curtis, will offer as a substitute ringing resolutions indorsing Mr. Taft in unqualified terms. When the insurgents vote down the minority's platform, the standpatters declare the action will absolve them from all obligation to vote for Governor Stubbs and the insurgent candidates for congress.

Plucky Mayor Saves Prisoner.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 30.—Only the determined stand of Mayor James H. Polsgrove prevented a lynching here. A mob of 300 men appeared before the jail, intent upon lynching Charles Howard, a negro, who stabbed Edward Rice, a white man, to death. The mayor held the mob at bay until the negro could be taken to Lexington.

Freight Cars Demolished.

Danville, Ind., Aug. 30.—A Big Four train of forty-eight freight cars was wrecked a mile west of Danville when it dashed into an open switch while running at a rate of thirty-five miles an hour. The engineer, fireman and head brakeman escaped by jumping. Ten cars were thrown from the track and four were demolished.

Denmark has more money in savings banks than any other nation in the world. The old impression that there is something the matter with Denmark will have to be revised.

That Granite City, Ill., woman who visited a grocer from whom she had purchased some eggs which were "stale" invited him to her home and then compelled him to eat two of them, adopted a plan which is novel and effective.

The list of "illustrious" names in the insurgent mouthpiece, the Indianapolis Sun, who are to come into Indiana and make campaign speeches, includes such "eminent insurgents" as Lofollette, Cummins, Deliver, Garfield and Pinchot. Not a single supporter of the administration appears in the Sun's list.

From a financial and industrial standpoint, we never were better off than at present, and as soon as mid-summer dullness in some lines of activity is over, we shall, no doubt, enter a most prosperous period in every line of business throughout the country. Even now, many factories are running day and night while the railroads are taxed to their utmost to transport the freight that is offered. The situation was never better, and even the high prices of the past few months are beginning to tumble, while there will be no thought of reducing wages so long as the Republican party remains in power.

In spite of the canards and misrepresentations that have been started, says the Winamac Republican, there is, however, a most marked change in general observed in the press of the country and in the expressions of the people. In the first place, the new tariff law is no longer sneered at by anyone—it is acknowledged quite generally that it is a most successful law. The changing of a deficit of $58,000,000 to a surplus of $15,000,000 cannot be controverted by any enemy of the tariff law, for it is an absolute fact. The immense increase of importation of manufacturers' material proves that our factories have been busy and labor pretty well employed and the increase in wages has added so much to the purchasing power of the people as to benefit all producers of both farm and factory.

It is not the price that talks, but CLARK'S PURITY FLOUR.

CARS DERAILED IN FREIGHT WRECK

Engineer Was Slightly Injured When he Jumped as Train Was Leaving Track.

BRAKE BEAM CAUSED TROUBLE

Seventeen freight cars and an engine were derailed early yesterday morning when a brake beam on one of the cars broke and dropped to the track, just beyond Flat Rock river, one mile and a half east of St. Paul. Engineer James Alley of Indianapolis, when he saw that the engine was leaving the tracks, jumped from his cab and was slightly injured when he struck the ground. His arms and legs struck the ground. His arms and legs bruised and cut about the body. None of the injuries are serious, however.

Although the train, which was a west-bound freight, consisted of forty cars, only seventeen cars left the track and none of these were overturned. The position of the wrecked cars was a puzzling feature to trainmen, as the front trucks and the coal tender were completely derailed. The two cars directly behind the engine were standing on the tracks after the wreck as if nothing had happened, while seventeen cars behind them were derailed.

ENTOMOLOGIST VISITED HERE

He Found Borers, Lice, Cotton Moth, Etc., on the Shade Trees in This City.

HE GIVES VERY GOOD ADVICE

A representative from the State bureau of entomology visited Rushville yesterday, examining diseased shade trees and was piloted over the city by John S. Abercrombie. Several insect pests harmful to trees were discovered, including cottony moth, borers, lice, etc., etc. This expert deplored the fact that many of the finest shade trees have been maimed and ruined by the tree butchers in the guise of trimmers. He expressed the opinion that shade trees should never be topped or heavily trimmed and that some other as effective methods could be used to get rid of black birds. Directions were given for treating diseased trees so that they may be saved.

Trees bothered by the cottony moth should be sprayed in winter or they will eventually die. It is said that the San Jose scale has been found on trees in Rushville and is a veritable pest in the orchards north of this city. He said that where borers (worms) have eaten away the bark on maple trees the dead bark should be carefully cut away and the cavity filled with a preparation of wax made of resin, beeswax and tallow. Shade trees on North Main street have been attacked by a pest the nature of which is not yet definitely known, but measures are being taken to combat the bug.

FAVORS RAILROAD.

Judge Fox of Wayne circuit court occupied the bench in the Henry circuit court today and rendered a decision favorable to the railroad in the case of the P. C. C. & St. L. railway company against the town of Knightstown for injunction. The company and the town have been having trouble for some time on account of the double tracking through Knightstown.

TAKES EXPRESS AGENCY.

John Oneal has resigned his position of agent for the American Express in this city and Samuel Finney has again taken the position. The office will be moved to the Finney bicycle shop in North Main street.

ANOTHER SKIRT FREAK.

From Paris comes the news that the "tube" skirt which was brought out before the "hobble" variety will supplant the latest production. The "tube" is described as resembling a cigarette without the cork tip, and by others as a bit of bologna unfastened at either end. The "hobble" is bad enough, but the "tube" must be extremely bad. Will these styles be followed by sensible, well-balanced women?

AMUSEMENTS

Philip Brown, press agent at the Riverside Bathing Beach, of Indianapolis, was in the city yesterday looking after billing and publicity end of the game for the beach. Mr. Brown had with him a crew of advertising men who, to use a circus phrase literally "Burnt the town up." The daily colored letters told in glowing terms of the many circus stunts that the beach will offer commencing with a matinee next Sunday. Among the features will be Jannaita, a beautiful young woman who leaps a twenty foot gap through a blaze of flames on an ordinary bicycle. There will be 50 other high class features including a balloon ascension and parachute leap by "Kid Stewart" assisted by "Doc Light." Each performance will be concluded by an elaborate display of fireworks.

The Air Dome will offer a Biograph subject tonight entitled "An Arcadian Maid," showing rustic simplicity imposed upon. The Star Grand will show two pictures of the Pathe American production. The first picture, "The Barrel Jumper" is an acrobatic picture of much merit. The young woman who entertains in this film is of marvelous agility and skill in her chosen profession. The second picture is a story of the civil war and is replete with scenes of intense interest, entitled, "Under Both Flags." The battle in this picture is one of the best staged spectacles ever seen, and the vividness with which the battle scenes are carried out are remarkable. Earl Robertson will sing new songs at both places.

The Palace theater will show a Biograph film, "The Usurer," tonight. It is a tale based on a piece of scripture. It tells a pitiable story of the dealers of the loan shark, who does not hesitate to take a bed out from under a dying man and run an aged man out from his only shelter. The rich usurer is shown at a banquet and then contrasted with his poor debtors. He is shown leaving his office and giving orders that privilege shall be granted to none. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Vaude management will offer a big double program tonight with a seven vaudeville act and the regular program of pictures. Dave B. Kennedy in his high class song and dance act will be the special feature. He makes a specialty of his Arkansas Rube act and is said to be one of the best monologue men in the small circuits. The picture, "The Husband's Mistake," a Bison drama, is said to be of much merit. It depicts a story of home life which will interest and highly entertain. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Girl and the Bill

By Bannister Merwin

CHAPTER XIX.

A Saved Situation.

He waited impatiently for her return. Bessie, he knew, might be in one of the rooms just across the hall, but, though Bessie was a tramp, he did not go to look for her. The girl might come back at any moment—and he did not wish to miss one instant of her presence.

Again he considered the miracle of her appearance in his life, and he rejoiced that, from the first, he had been able to be of service to her. Those loving, trusting words that she had just spoken—how they glowed in his heart! She had known that he would succeed! He could only think that the secret telegraph of his love had sent her messages of confidence.

And yet he did not even know her name. The house was just such a one as he might have imagined to be her home—beautiful, with the air of a longer family tradition than is commonly found in the middle west—unobtrusive but complete. And the furnishings of the room in which he was standing were in quiet but perfect taste.

On a table near him lay a book. Mechanically he picked it up.

It opened at the fly leaf. Something was written there—her name, perhaps.

He closed the cover without reading the inscription, conscious only of a line of writing in a feminine hand that might be her's or another's. No, he could wait. The name did not matter. She was his, and that was enough.

Near the book lay an empty envelope, addressed to—he averted his eyes.

He found himself wondering whether Poritolo was still kneeling in the field, and whether Maku was still running, and whether the Japanese minister was still telling charming stories on the porch at Arradale.

And presently, when she came again, her face radiant, and said softly, "You have done a great thing, my dear"—when she said that, he could only look and look and thank heaven for his blessedness.

"Where were the papers when you fooled me into leaving you?" she asked.

"Arima had them. It's quite a story, girl, dear."

"Then, wait a little while," she interrupted; "we have permission to see the papers signed."

She led him through the adjoining room and to the curtained doorway of a library—long, alcoved, shelved with books, and furnished with heavy leather chairs. In the center was a large table of polished mahogany, upon which rested a reading lamp.

The glow of this lamp illuminated the forms and faces of a group of serious faced men—two seated, the others standing. In the golden light, with the dim background of shelves, surmounted here and there by a vase or a classic bust, the group impressed Orme like a stately painting—a tableau distinguished by solemn dignity.

"We are to remain here and keep very quiet," whispered the girl.

Orme nodded. His eyes were fixed on the face of a man who sat at the table, a pen poised in his hand. Those strong, straight features—the eyes, with their look of sympathetic comprehension, so like the girl's—the lips, eloquent in their calmness—surely this was her father. But Orme's heart beat faster, for the face of this man, framed in its wavy hair, was familiar.

Where had he seen this man? That they had never met, he felt certain, unless, indeed, they had shaken hands in a casual and forgotten introduction. Or was he led into a feeling of recognition by the undoubted resemblance of father to daughter? No, it could not be that; and yet this man, or his picture—ah! The recognition came to Orme in a flash.

This was the magnetic face that was now so often appearing in the press—the face of the great, the revered, the able statesman upon whom rested so great a part of the burden of the country's welfare. No wonder that Orme recognized it, for it was the face of the secretary of state! And the girl was his daughter.

Orme was amazed to think how he had failed to piece the facts together. The rumors of important international negotiations; the sudden but not serious illness of the secretary; his temporary retirement from Washington to Chicago, to be near his favorite physician—for weeks the papers had been full of these incidents.

When South Americans and Japanese combined to hinder the signing of mysterious papers, he should have realized that the matter was not of private, but of public importance. But the true significance of the events into which he had been drawn had escaped his logical mind. It had never occurred to him that such a series of plots, frequent though they might be in continental Europe, could ever be attempted in a country like the United States. And then, he had actually thought of little besides the girl and her needs.

He glanced at her now, but her gaze was fixed on the scene before them. The brightness of her eyes and her quickened breathing told him how intense was her interest.

Across the table from the secretary of state sat a younger man. His breast glittered with decorations, and his bearing and appearance had all the stiffness of the high-born Teuton.

Of the men who stood behind the two seated figures, some were young, some were old, but all were weighted with the gravity of a great moment. Orme inferred that they were secretaries and attaches.

And now pens scratched on paper. The secretary of state and the German ambassador—for Orme knew that it must be he—were signing documents, apparently in duplicate, for they exchanged papers after signing and repeated the action. So these were the papers which at the last hour Orme had restored; and this was the scene which his action had made possible—all for the sake of a girl.

And when the last pen-stroke had been completed and the seated men raised their eyes and looked at each other—looked at each other with the responsible glance of men who have made history—at that moment the girl whispered to Orme: "Come," and silently he followed her back to the room in which he had first awaited her.

"Oh, Girl," he whispered, as she turned and faced him, "Oh, Girl, I am so glad!"

She smiled. "Please wait for a moment."

When she had disappeared he pictured the scene they had just witnessed. With all its absence of pomp, it had left with him an impression that could never be effaced.

Again the girl appeared in the doorway, and leaning on her arm was her father. Orme stepped forward. The secretary smiled and extended his hand.

"Mr. Orme," he said, "we owe you much. My daughter has told me something of your experiences. You may be sure that I had no notion, when this affair began, that she would have to envelop herself and others in so much mystery, but now that all has ended well, I can only be thankful." He seated himself. "You will excuse me; I am not quite strong yet, though, as I might say, very convalescent."

The girl was leaning on the back of her father's chair. "Tell father the story, won't you, please?" she asked. So Orme quickly narrated the series of events that began with his stroll along State street the afternoon of the day before. "It doesn't sound true, does it?" he concluded.

"But the marked five-dollar bill will always be evidence of its truth," said the girl; and then, with a suggestion of adorable shyness, "We must go and redeem that bill sometime."

The secretary was pondering. He had listened with manifest interest, interrupting now and then with questions that helped to bring out salient points. At the report of the conversation between Alcatraz and the Japanese concerning the commissions on ships, he had leaned forward with especial attention. And now, after a few moments of thought, he said:

"The Japanese minister we can handle. As for Alcatraz, I must see to it that he is recalled—and Poritolo."

AN UP-TO-DATE DRUGGIST.

says it is surprising how many old-fashioned remedies are being used, which goes to show that it is hard to improve some of our grandmothers' old, time-tried remedies. For instance, for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy, nothing equaling our grandmothers' "sage tea" has ever been discovered. Although, by the addition of sulphur and other ingredients, this old-fashioned brew has been made more effective as a scalp tonic and color restorer. Nowadays when our hair comes out or gets faded or gray, instead of going to the garden or garret for herbs and making the "tea" ourselves, we simply go to the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. This preparation is sold by all leading druggists for 50 cents and $1 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

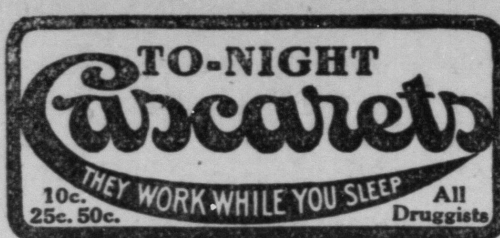

For sale and recommended by Hargrove & Mullin.

HERE IS A REMEDY THAT WILL CURE ECZEMA

"WE PROVE IT"

Why waste time and money experimenting with greasy salves and lotions, trying to drive the eczema germ from underneath the skin when the F. E. Wolcott Drug Store guarantees ZEMO, a clean liquid preparation for external use to rid the skin of the germ life that causes the trouble? One application will relieve the itching and often times one bottle is sufficient to cure a minor case of eczema.

In over 200 towns and cities in America, the leading druggist has the agency for ZEMO and he will tell you of the marvelous cures made by this clean, simple treatment. ZEMO is recognized as the cleanest and most popular treatment for eczema, pimples, dandruff and all other forms of skin or scalp affections whether on infant or grown person. Will you try a bottle on our recommendation? F. E. Wolcott's Drug Store.

They Have A Definite Purpose.

Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief in cases of kidney and bladder ailments. Mrs. Rose Glaser, Terre Haute, Ind., tells the result in her case. After suffering for many years from a serious case of kidney trouble and spending much money for so-called cures. I found Foley Kidney Pills the only medicine that gave me a permanent cure. I am again able to be up and attend to my work. I shall never hesitate to recommend them." F. B. Johnson & Co.

The Best Hour of Life.

is when you do some great deed or discover some wonderful fact. This hour came to J. R. Pitt, of Rocky Mt., N. C. when he was suffering intensely, as he says, "from the worst cold I ever had, I then proved to my great satisfaction, what a wonderful Cold and Cough cure Dr. King's New Discovery is. For, after taking one bottle, I was entirely cured. You can't say anything too good of a medicine like that." Its the surest and best remedy for diseased lungs, Hemorrhages, LaGrippe, Asthma, Hay Fever, any Throat or Lung Trouble. 50c. $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by F. B. Johnson & Co.

"Poor little Mr. Poritolo!" exclaimed the girl. "Do you think he is still kneeling in that field?"

"Possibly," said Orme, smiling. "We will look to see when we go to redeem the bill."

"I think, Mr. Orme," said the secretary, "that I may fairly give you a little clearer insight into the importance of the papers which you rescued for us. You have seen stories of the rumors of negotiations with some foreign power?"

"Yes," said Orme.

"But, perhaps you have not known of the secret but aggressive policy which Japan has lately adopted toward us. The exchange of friendly notes a few years ago might as well not have occurred. If we had done nothing to check the tendencies in the Pacific, we should have been at war within another year. Only a complete understanding and definite agreement with some strong nation could prevent hostilities. The Anglo-Japanese alliance eliminated Great Britain as a possible ally. There were reasons why it seemed inadvisable to turn to France, for an arrangement there would involve the recognition of Russian interests. Therefore, we sought an alliance with Germany."

"The German ambassador and myself drafted a treaty last month, with the proviso that it must be signed within a certain period which, as you know, will expire within a few minutes. My illness followed, and with it the necessity of coming to our home, here. I had expected to return to Washington last week, but as Doctor Allison forbade me to travel for a while longer, I had the drafts of the treaty sent on, and urged the German ambassador to pay me a long-deferred visit. He and his suite have been here several days, in mufti."

"Now, Mr. Orme, this treaty concerns two important relations—a just balance of power in the Pacific and a just arrangement by which the countries of South America can be made to live up to their obligations. I cannot go into details, and it will be some months before the treaty will be made public—but Japan must not dominate our Pacific trade routes, and the Monroe doctrine must be applied in such a manner that it will not shelter evil doers. You understand now why Alcatraz and the Japanese minister were working together."

"It is quite clear," said Orme. "I don't wish you to tell me any more than is advisable, but the Japanese minister, said that, if the new treaty should lapse, the German government would not renew it."

"Very true," said the secretary. "The German ambassador is pleased with the treaty. After it had been drafted, however, and after his home government had agreed to the terms, Japan brought pressure to bear in Germany. The result of this Japanese effort—which contained a counter proposition for the isolation of Russia—was that the German government weakened—not to the point of disavowing the arrangement with us, but in the event of a redrafting of the treaty, to the adoption of a less favorable basis of negotiations, or, possibly, even to the interposition of such obstacles as would make a treaty impossible. You can see how essential these papers were to us. There was not time to provide new copies, for the lost drafts carried certain seals and necessary signatures which could not be duplicated on short notice."

"Did the German ambassador know of the loss?" Orme was encouraged to ask questions by the secretary's obvious desire to explain as fully as he could.

"No one knew of it, Mr. Orme, excepting my daughter and myself—that is, no one besides the South American and the Japanese."

"Tell Father the Story, Won't You, Please?" She Asked.

cans and the Japanese. It seemed wise to say nothing. There were no secret service men at hand, and even if there had been, I doubt if they would have acted as efficiently as you have acted. The police, I know, would have bungled and, above all else, publicity had to be avoided.

"As things have turned out, I am glad that Poritolo set his burglar on us when he did; otherwise Maku would have got the treaty at the last moment. Alcatraz's desire to secure a diplomatic advantage over the Japanese was really the saving of us."

The secretary paused. His face lighted up with a rare smile. "Above everything else, Mr. Orme, I thank you."

He arose and rang for a servant.

"And now," he continued, "I know you will excuse me if I return to my guests. My daughter will bring you in presently, so that we may have the pleasure of making you acquainted with them. And, of course, you will remain with us till tomorrow." He smiled again and went slowly from the room on the arm of the servant.

Orme turned to the girl. Her face was rosy and her eyes were fixed on the arm of her chair.

"Girl, dear," he said, "I can hardly believe that it is all true."

She did not answer, and while he gazed at her, surprised at her silence, failing to understand her sudden embarrassment, Bessie Wallingham appeared in the doorway and stood hesitant.

"Am I still not wanted?" said Bessie, roguery in her voice. "Sure, ye'll find me a faithful servant. I minds me own business and asks no questions."

The girl rushed over to her friend. "Oh, Bessie," she cried, with a little laugh—"Oh, Bessie, won't you please come in and—"

Orme began to understand. "And wait for us a little longer," he broke in.

Masterfully he led the girl out through the doorway to the hall. Bessie Wallingham looked after their retreating figures. "Well, I never!" she exclaimed. (THE END.)

HE HEARS HINTS OF CONSPIRACY

Indianapolis Mayor Says There's a Plot Against Him.

BREWERS AFTER HIS "GOAT"

According to Information Which Mayor Shank Says Has Reached His Ears, Certain Members of the City Council and the Brewers Have Started Movement for His Impeachment.
With View to Naming His Successor.

Indianapolis, Aug. 30.—Mayor Shank declares that a conspiracy has been formed between members of the city council and brewers to impeach him, declare his office vacant and appoint his successor. Some time ago the council started an investigation to learn who gave the saloon men a "tip" that they might keep open on Sunday, and the mayor says an effort is making to show that he gave the tip.

"I am told," said the mayor, "that a certain discharged employe of the city has been going to saloon keepers and offering to pay them to testify that they had a tip indirectly from me that they could stay open on Sunday without fear of being arrested, but I don't know whether this man has been acting for members of the council or for himself."

"I want to say," continued the mayor,
"that I am on to what a few members of the city council are trying to do in the way of impeachment proceedings against me, and I want the public to know where I stand on this matter. I demand of the city council that it begin its tip investigation at once."
The mayor said he had been informed that five members of the council were pledged to impeach him, but he would not give their names. In case the mayor should be removed, under the law, the city controller would succeed him to the office. Should the city controller fail to take the office, the city clerk would succeed to the position. The law says nothing further about the manner of succession to the office.

MUCH FEELING AROUSED

Tragedy on Miners' Train Has Stirred the Community.

Brazil, Ind., Aug. 30.—Frank Shaffer, aged thirty-two, who was stabbed during a fight on a miners' train at Harmony by his nephew, George Altman, is dead. A great deal of feeling has been stirred up over the affair, as the principals are members of prominent families. Altman's father, who went on his son's bond, promised to bring his son to the sheriff in case Shaffer died, and an hour after Shaffer succumbed to his wounds, Altman brought his son to this city, turning him over to the authorities. He is now in jail.
Shaffer leaves a widow and three children.

Altman was to have been married Sunday to a prominent young woman of Knightsville. He has employed an attorney to defend him, and will plead self-defense.

IN SERIOUS PLIGHT

Indiana Farmer Treed All Night by Enraged Bull.

Nashville, Ind., Aug. 30.—Charles Gaynard, a farmer near here, was injured in a fight with an enraged bull.
He was going through a field when the animal attacked him, knocking him down. Mr. Gaynard finally gained his feet and ran toward a tree. The bull followed, but Gaynard climbed on a limb just as the bull dashed against the tree. The enraged animal besieged him there all night. Gaynard's son rescued him early in the morning with a shotgun, driving the bull away.

Tragedy Follows Petty Quarrel.

Sullivan, Ind., Aug. 30.—During a quarrel over the loss of a quarter in a crap game, Charles Burton, aged twenty-seven, a mule driver at Jackson mill No. 4, shot and almost instantly killed August Staples, aged thirty-two.
The shooting was witnessed by a dozen coal miners who had crowded around the game on the sidewalk in front of the company store. Burton calmly rolled a cigarette after the shooting and walked away and has not been captured.

There will be a shortage in sauerkraut this year, according to word from Fremont, O., the center of the kraut industry.

BOSS DOMINATION

Greathouse Candidacy Emphasizes Tom Taggart's Strength.

[Special Correspondence.]

Indianapolis, Aug. 30.—"If Governor Marshall had been here last Thursday there might have been a fight over the selection of a successor to Dr. R. J.
Aley on the Democratic state ticket." So said a Marshall Democrat yesterday. When Dr. Aley withdrew from the Democratic ticket it was supposed that Governor Marshall would be called in to assist in the important political task of substituting the best possible man to take the place of the superintendent of public instruction. While the Taggart men were well pleased to see Dr. Aley get out of the field and out of politics, some Democrats believed they could see that the loss of Dr. Aley meant the loss of a lot of votes.
There was a pretty general feeling that Dr. Aley was likely to gain support from educators regardless of party in more or less degree. It was the theory of Dr. Aley and of Governor Marshall that Democrats ought to pick a high grade man to whom Dr. Aley might attach his own endorsement, and to whom he might rally the Aley independent strength.

Now that was just plain political gumption, as plain as the nose on one's face. It was so obvious that many political observers were inclined to believe the Taggart crowd would jump at the chance to get the man on whom the Aley forces could center their support. But the man who seeks logic in Taggart boss politics is likely to be disappointed. The Taggart crowd, coached in person by Thomas, the wily, hustled through the matter of filling the state ticket vacancy. There was no "by your leave" to Governor Marshall, the logical leader of the Democratic party in the state. There was no message to the ex-ees at Petoskey. Kern and Marshall were not asked for counsel. The deal went through with a bang. The forces of education and the school men were ignored. In place of the highly trained Dr. Aley, and the brilliant and splendidly equipped George Tapp, the people were given Charley Greathouse, full-back of one time fame, and grain broker of the present.

So far as is known Dr. Aley has not put himself behind the Greathouse candidacy. It would tickle Taggart and the crowd to have Aley do this for Greathouse. It would be the "natural" thing for Dr. Aley to do, according to Taggart's view. But Dr. Aley will not vouch for Greathouse. He cannot do so. He does not know Greathouse's possibilities, either for good or evil.
So he will keep out and will go his way to Maine, and try to forget Tag-gartism and its humiliations. Governor Marshall sounded a warning against political boss handling of the school problem. He favored Prof.
Tapp, of Wabash college, and Dr. Aley was ready to boost Tapp strongly.
Tapp was ignored by the politicians.
So it is not necessary for either Tapp, Marshall, or Aley, to assist in furthering the interests of Greathouse.

Marshall would have made a fight for the schools if he had been on the job. Marshall would have braved the bosses in the name of efficiency for the Indiana school system, if he had been in the state. But he was away fishin'. The significant thing about this Democratic situation is that Tom Taggart was on the job and doing business at the right time,—to suit his own purposes. It seems a pity that those who profess to oppose Taggartism are always out of reach when most needed. Taggart never fails to put through his schemes. Taggart never lingers away when there are Democratic party destinies to be worked out his way. It is the Marshall crowd; it is the anti-Taggart people who avoid trouble, avoid effort, and let things slide. There is a question if it was not worth Marshall's while to give up his pole and line and hurry back to Indiana to take a man's part in saving the Indiana schools from possible domination by a Taggart.
His friends say the Democratic governor would have been beaten and humiliated once more if he had opposed the Taggart men. Well, what of it?
Better, and stronger men have been humiliated by this same Taggart in the past. They have gone down fighting. They have refused to yield or to dicker. That is to their credit, at least.

MOB SCATTERED BY MACHINE GUN

Rioting Breaks Out Afresh At Ohio's Capital.

SEVERAL SERIOUSLY INJURED

Crowd Gathered About a Car Which Had Been Dynamited by Strike Sympathizers, and It Was Not Until the Militia Arrived With a Gatling Gun
That the Crowd of Two Thousand Broke.

Columbus, O., Aug. 30.—A mob of 2,000 persons battled with the police and militia last night when streetcar rioting broke out with fresh fury.
Struck down by the clubs of policemen, several were seriously injured.
One, a deputy sheriff, mistaken for a rioter, may die. A chauffeur for a police automobile was struck unconscious with a brick. Fifty rioters are arrested and locked in the city prison.
The rioting started with the wrecking of cars on Leonard avenue by dynamite at Twentieth street. Following the explosions a mob gathered about the cars and assaulted the non-union crews with a volley of bricks and stones. Though the cars had been thrown from the tracks, the windows shattered and the floor splintered, neither the motorman nor conductor had been injured. They stuck to the car amid a shower of missiles until Chief Carter arrived with an auto load of police.

Leaping from the machine, the chief and Officers Nicholas, Gump, Nichols and Peak charged the crowd with their clubs, ordering them to disperse.
Those who hesitated were struck down. Deputy Sheriff Waters, who had been assisting to scatter the mob, was not recognized. A policeman struck him to the ground with a blow on the left side of the head.

Bricks, bottles and rocks were hurled at the policemen as they wielded their clubs. The mob defied them, shouting "Scab!" and jeering them.
It was then that Captain Bush arrived in an auto with a mounted machine gun and a squad of Battery C artillery.
Jumping to the ground, Captain Bush led a charge on the crowd, his men swinging their sticks right and left. A number of rioters were felled to the pavement. In a panic the crowd suddenly broke and scattered. Men, women and children dashed madly through the yards and into houses.
Police and soldiers followed, using their sticks with telling effect. Rushing into houses, men were dragged out by soldiers amid the screams of women and children.

in the habit of reading ads. usually have money to buy advertised things!

If it is not already true of you, personally, that when you see something you need, ad-

Isn't it worth while?

short time, one house giving $100. I mention these things to show how readily the business men respond to public enterprises. And as a rule every dollar they spend they get many in return—a fact as true in the southwest as it is in Indiana or any other place.

But coming down to the individual merchants I was surprised at the stock of goods they carry. I thought it highly probable before I came here that the goods would be those of two or three years ago in Indiana. But I have never been in a city of any size anywhere in which the stores were better stocked with up-to-date goods, and at reasonable prices, too. Two interesting things caught my eye before I had been here many days. They are two things on which the Republican has preached for the past two years. One is window decorations, and the other is a part of the first—leaving placards in the windows after the events are over and forgotten. Roswell has a baseball team which plays about three week day games each week. Bills are put out announcing these games and of course placed in windows. The games start at 2:30 and it is pretty hard to find one of those bills fifteen minutes after the game starts. It is one of their ideas of progressiveness here—that it is a bad policy to leave an old bill or placard in the window.

Window displays are remarkable and I doubt whether stores which have special trimmers can excel some of the Roswell merchants in putting up attractive windows. And when they get an attractive window they do not leave it for two or three weeks, but the windows are changed at least every week and in some stores twice each week. One of the nobbiest and most attractive windows I have seen for some time was one built up entirely of fashion books put out by some dress pattern company which that dry goods store represented. Shoe stores, dry goods stores, clothing stores, grocery stores, drug stores, real estate offices, and even the meat markets keep up window displays which few people pass without noticing. The show windows are about twice the size of those in Rushville—that is in the larger stores.

Although Roswell merchants believe in window displays they do not depend on them to do all their talking. They are great newspaper advertisers. All the leading stores carry large display spaces in the newspapers. The merchants here seem to have learned that bill board and fence advertising does not pay. Occasionally you will see a sign board in the country surrounding the city but it is usually delapidated as though the firm which it represents had repented and would spend no more money on it.

Just one more thing—the Retail Merchants Credit Association. It is a live organization and one which the merchants say they could not do without. I think the only practical difference between it and the credit department of the Rushville Merchants Association is the daily bulletin feature. Each member of the association receives daily a type-written bulletin which contains all the real estate transfers, mortgage issues, changes in business firms, and news of the circuit, city and justice courts. These bulletins are filed and make a handy reference for the business men. And they say it has saved them from running many bad accounts and consequently many dollars. Saved many dollars—that's the ultimate result of all the progressive methods of the business men here.

WAS FURTHER POSTPONED

Trial of State vs. Glover Was Not Heard Last Night.

The trial of the State versus Glover, which was to have been heard before Mayor Black last evening at 7:30 o'clock, was again postponed. The case arose out of a quarrel over a potato patch and has been set for hearing three times. It was postponed last night on account of the absence of Lieut. Gov. Frank J. Hall, who was out of the city. Nothing prevents it will be heard on next Monday.

EDUCATED HORSE HAS UNUSUAL STUNTS

Forest Tempest is Headliner With Van's High School Horses at Fair This Year.

TO SPELL DAILY REPUBLICAN

Van's show with educated high school horses is the star attraction at the fair this year. The show is conceded to be one of the best making the small fairs this year and is guaranteed by the members of the fair board to be a clean, high class entertainment. The program is made up of marvelous feats of the horse actors, twelve in number, who perform feats that are not often seen. The show carries four spotless white horses. The animals are all kept immaculately clean and are in good condition.

Forest Tempest, which is said to be the smartest horse in the world, is the headliner with the show. He performs unusual stunts which are not in the repertoire of most educated animals. He seems to have the understanding of a human being and can write his own name with chalk. A series of blocks with letters on them are used by the horse in spelling out names. He will spell The Daily Republican at performances of the show. Local people who saw the show Sunday afternoon, say that he is the best educated horse ever seen here.

SCHOOLS TO OPEN SOON

Some Over County Will Begin Next Monday Morning.

The township schools will open in Anderson, Richland, Orange and Washington townships next Monday. The other schools over the county including the city schools will be opened the following Monday, September 12. The preliminary teachers' institute will be held in the court house next Saturday. A set of questions has been prepared by the county superintendent, Orlando Randall, which each teacher in attendance will be expected to answer.

The famous Overland Wind Wagon will be driven at the Rush county fair tomorrow afternoon and Thursday afternoon. The construction of the wagon is a cross between a flying machine and an automobile. It is a very unique structure and is capable of making a high rate of speed. The track will be "scored" in the vernacular of the speed kings.
